Abstract:

First of all, a person grows up in the bosom of the family and is formed as a person. Family education, spiritual and moral values are later polished among people - in the neighborhood, in educational institutions. Therefore, if we say that the great task of bringing up a mature generation, which determines the future of our country and people, and its reputation in the world community, cannot be solved without the cooperation of the family-neighborhood-educational institution, we will be telling the truth.

Introduction

The development of human personality is very complex and it is formed through continuous long process. His upbringing is directly influenced by his parents, school, neighborhood, friends, community organizations, environment, mass media, art, literature, nature, etc. Therefore, education is a necessary necessity for the whole society, for the formation of the future generation, every day, every time.

RESEARCH MATERIALS AND METHODOLOGY

President Sh.M.Mirziyoyev, while reorganizing the "Youth Union" organization of the Republic of Uzbekistan and paying special attention to the establishment of youth education, said, "Youth are our future". As we form moral thinking and high consciousness through manners and morals, a perfect person is taught only to establish a good attitude and to behave well. Gradually, this situation becomes a habit (reflex). Therefore, it is necessary to educate and develop morally perfect human qualities in our youth today. After all, as President Shavkat Mirziyoyev said, "Education of the young generation has always been extremely important and relevant"[1].

In a word, a child should be educated physically, intellectually and morally in the family, armed with a strong body, sound mind and good morals. The conclusion is that we must preserve the sanctity and integrity of the family, relying on the values of our ancestors, and strive to raise our children to be patriotic, humane, highly religious, polite and of course perfect.

In the implementation of this principle, equal legal opportunities were created for women and men in education, professional training, work, incentives for work and promotion. All citizens of the Republic of Uzbekistan have the same rights and freedoms, as defined by Article 18 of the Constitution of the Republic of Uzbekistan, regardless of gender, race, nationality, language, religion, social origin, faith, personality and social status. In view of this, it can be said that the relationship between the principle of equality before the law and Article 46 of the Constitution has caused a lot of controversy.

When it comes to the education and upbringing of young people, we cannot help but dwell on the role and influence of the neighborhood. It is not for nothing that it is said that "Neighborhood is both father and mother". Customs and traditions characteristic of our people, such as mutual kindness, harmony and harmony, developed in the environment of the neighborhood. These are important in shaping the thinking of the young generation. Therefore, the role of the neighborhood in the education of our children cannot be equated with anything.

Recently, the spiritual and moral corruption that is spreading all over the world under the guise of "mass culture" seriously threatens the outlook of our youth.

The attempt to inculcate foreign and destructive ideas such as moral corruption, violence, individualism, egocentrism into the minds of young people through the Internet is growing. We must protect our young men and women from their influence. That's why we need to organize training hours for young people, involving experts who can thoroughly analyze today's complex ideological processes in neighborhoods. So that such activities reveal the essence of ideas and ideological attacks that are against our national interests and our way of life. This is of particular importance in strengthening the foundations of national thinking and a healthy outlook in the hearts of our citizens.

In addition, there is a need to regularly improve the monitoring of the spiritual environment in the neighborhood. In this way, it is possible to improve the environment in troubled families and prevent unpleasant situations in the upbringing of children.

RESEARCH RESULTS AND DISCUSSION

Often we do not pay attention to the problems and dreams of our boys and girls. Rather, we only make demands on them and do not count on their interests. According to the words of our President, every parent and coach should first of all see the personality of each child. It would be appropriate to approach child rearing based on this simple requirement. For this purpose, we need to conduct social research, or rather surveys, aimed at studying the problems of young people. Based on the results of the research, a program of measures has been developed, which should include tasks aimed at solving the problems of young people, realizing their dreams, ensuring their employment, and properly organizing their free time.

It is necessary to regularly hold meetings and roundtable discussions in neighborhoods and educational institutions with the participation of representatives of noble families, war and labor veterans, writers and poets. The more these activities increase, the faster we can reach our goals.

In our country, the reforms aimed at developing the activity of the family institution, increasing spiritual and educational promotion in neighborhoods, improving its regulatory and legal support and improving material and technical conditions, strengthening the participation and place of citizens' self-management bodies in families, and educating a morally sound person in front of educational processes have been implemented. expanded the opportunity to increase.representative offices and neighborhoods.

There is a need to develop the effectiveness of the social protection system of minors in the family on the basis of "Family-Neighborhood-Educational Institution" cooperation. In the Strategy of Actions for the further development of the Republic of Uzbekistan, it is determined that the priority task is to "educate young people who are physically healthy, spiritually and mentally developed, independent-thinking, loyal to the Motherland, have a firm outlook on life, deepen democratic reforms and increase their social activity in the process of developing civil society"[2] placed. In this regard, the enrichment of the legal and regulatory provision aimed at raising the social consciousness of minors, improving the content of social support for minors in the family, clarifying the cooperation functions of the "University of Parents" public structure are of urgent importance.

A number of important strategic goals are set before social workers in performing these tasks. Social workers help to involve people in decision-making processes aimed at changing their lives and empowering them based on the strengths and capabilities of individuals, groups, and communities. Protecting people's dignity, ensuring their safety, helping them achieve personal well-being is carried out by a social worker on the basis of his understanding of a person as a whole with his individual, family and public characteristics, respecting his interests and needs.

The development of the national strategy of social protection in Uzbekistan and the transfer of all its functions to a single specialized institution should be developed in accordance with international standards for social protection of children and adults. In this case, the social protection institution effectively coordinates and integrates various social protection programs.

The content of preparing young people in the neighborhood for a family based on a healthy lifestyle, treating the family with a sacred and responsible attitude, honoring the family, preparing young people for family life, maintaining reproductive health, imparting knowledge on life and livelihood, protecting human health and forming a serious attitude to one's own health, gratitude, modesty, thrift, meekness, dignity, compassion, motherly love.

Also, the forms and methods of developing the system of social protection of minors in the family, the cooperation of "Family - neighborhood - educational institution" in the development of the system of educating the social consciousness of minors in the family, and the development of the system of educating the social consciousness of minors in the family are considered important.

CONCLUSION

As a conclusion, “Family - neighborhood - educational institution” cooperation in the development of family, neighborhood, school cooperation in increasing the effectiveness of social activities has a positive effect on the purposeful and effective activity of the social stratum in the society. This system of cooperation is important for raising children in the family in the spirit of active participation in the processes of spiritual renewal of the society. Recommendations of the citizens' gatherings: it is desirable to develop on the basis of mutual integrative cooperation with the “Family-Neighborhood-Educational Institution” public council and the “Parents University” public structure, and to implement it through effective use of modern pedagogical technologies, interactive methods, and information and communication technologies.
