Introduction

In today's world, the issue of security is becoming a serious problem for all countries. The number of complex and dangerous processes is increasing day by day. This is connected with the origin of ideological and political boundaries that threaten the privacy of the state, society, and individual. Globalization process and the radical changes that occur with the reduction of the risk of nuclear war have not been able to make the world completely free from this danger. Today, the main focus of the world community is to ensure peace, stability and security, therefore, special attention is paid to such issues as the characteristics of secular changes, security mechanisms, the priority of universal interests, enlightenment and religious tolerance, factors of sustainable development. attention is being paid. [4; p. 5]

Due to the geographic location of the Uzbek people in Central Asia, with a stable climate, abundant water and land, other peoples who invaded our country in history tried to find the spirituality and values of our people. This includes the Iranian Achaemenids, Macedonian Greeks, Tsarist Russia, and others. In this sense, the Honorable first President Islam Karimov in his work "Threats to security, conditions of stability and guarantees of development of Uzbekistan at the threshold of the 21st century" wrote: "Ethnic, cultural and religious tolerance of our people is another inexhaustible part of spiritual awakening is an inexhaustible source. For thousands of years, Central Asia has been a center where diverse religions, cultures and ways of life have met and lived in peace. Ethnic patience and tolerance have become natural norms necessary for survival and development from the storms of life. Even those who conquered these territories not only bowed to the culture of the peoples of Central Asia, but carefully accepted its most valuable traditions” [3; pp. 141-142].

The independent states that were created in the place of the former union are currently taking measures to move to the path of stability and creativity. However, as a result of political inexperience, superficial interpretation of the laws and requirements of democracy, most of them have experienced and are experiencing difficult days.

Independent Uzbekistan was able to achieve good results in this regard. Because from the first laws of independence, the leadership of our country took all necessary measures to ensure stability, all social forces, including the opposition, were directed towards the only correct stability and mutual cooperation in the current situation. Thanks to stability, the positive results of Uzbekistan are recognized by the world community.

The international community's recognition of independent Uzbekistan, the broad foreign political and economic activities of our country gave more strength to the recovery of the spiritual values and opportunities of the Uzbek people, to realize themselves as a nation with full rights among other nations. Wide-scale international relations created a favorable ground for deeper knowledge of world culture and enjoyment of universal human values. At the same time, the talent of the Uzbek people in various fields of activity was allowed to be fully realized, and their unique qualities such as entrepreneurship and resourcefulness, as well as the ability to quickly learn several foreign languages, were fully realized. Thanks to these contacts, the traditions of national hospitality and generosity have further developed.

After we gained independence, we began to build and develop a new statehood. In the initial period, it was necessary to solve the following two tasks.

First: Termination of the old administrative command system, authorities and management bodies corresponding to it.

Second: Creation of the political-legal, constitutional foundations of the new statehood. Consolidation of the new system of social relations and the new system of state authorities both in the center and in localities in the constitution and laws.

At this point, we will strictly continue such important work, and our most important task is to fully support the realization of human potential, protect his basic rights and legal interests. This is the main condition for ensuring peace and stability, a prosperous life in society [1; p.22].

But the current situation in Central Asia, especially in the Islamic Republic of Afghanistan, has a negative impact on the peace of Uzbekistan. For this reason, it is necessary to form ideological immunity in the mind and heart of the population to live and work peacefully, and various foreign, harmful and alien ideas.

Regarding the peace and stability of Central Asia, in particular, the Republic of Uzbekistan, the President of Uzbekistan Shavkat Mirziyoyev listed six important tasks for the development and prosperity of Central Asia at the international conference held in Samarkand:

First offer: Business Diplomacy;

Second proposal: Transport Diplomacy;

The third proposal: Preventive diplomacy;

Fourth proposal: Border diplomacy;

Fifth Proposition: Water Diplomacy;

Sixth Proposition: Public Diplomacy [7].

In it, he touched on the following issues as a guarantee of peace and stability:

- that it is necessary to create favorable conditions for the development of trade and economic relations and increase the volume of trade and cooperation, and to organize a regional economic forum;
- more effective use of the transit-logistics potential of the region and ensuring rapid development of transport infrastructure;
- that all the countries of the region are facing the threats of terrorism, religious extremism, transnational crime and drug trafficking, to ensure effective fight against these threats only together, within the framework of practical cooperation mechanisms between the countries of the region;
- quickly and quickly complete the process of delimitation and demarcation of state borders;
- regulate the problem of fair use of water resources in the region as soon as possible;
- He proposed the main conditions for the acceleration of regional cooperation in Central Asia, such as the strengthening of cultural-humanitarian relations, friendship and good neighborly relations between our countries and peoples [7].

The formation of democratic institutions and the foundations of civil society plays an important role in ensuring stability in the development of Uzbekistan.

They are as follows: 1. The history of colonialism and racial discrimination has disappeared. 2. New independent states are emerging on the stage of history. 3. Taking into account the increasing role of the countries of the Asian continent in the traditional deployment of forces, they are forced to introduce explanations to it. 4. The values, principles and standards of democratic development are becoming more and more popular. The transition to a market economy and the implementation of a strong social policy were also important in stabilizing the development of Uzbekistan.

In any country, if various forms of inequality increase or are allowed to grow, they pose a threat to social stability.

The atmosphere of friendship and solidarity prevailing in our country is the most important factor for peace and stability, increasing the effectiveness of the reforms being implemented, and further raising the prestige of Uzbekistan in the international arena. We all know and highly appreciate the services of the First President of our country, Islam Abduganievich Karimov, in the preservation and strengthening of this literally priceless wealth [2; p. 296], - said the President of Uzbekistan Sh. Mirziyoyev.

Ensuring social cohesion means ensuring that social conflicts and inequalities do not escalate to the point where entire groups and classes of the population who consider themselves unfairly deprived of everything or their rights are discriminated [3; pp. 141-142], said Honorable first President I.A. Karimov.

A powerful labor potential plays an important role in the stable development of the republic. An important feature of the labor potential is its age and professional composition. The average age of the population of Uzbekistan is 29 years old. An important feature of the labor potential in Uzbekistan is its high level of education.

The general and professional level of labor resources is also high. The development of science and scientific infrastructure is of great importance in the implementation of program tasks for the rapid development of the country.

Our country attaches great importance to the rule of law. The most important guarantee of economic development and protection of investments is the stability of our legal framework.

In conclusion, it should be noted that “the world is changing rapidly, and various new threats and dangers are emerging that lead to stability and solid development of nations. Spirituality and enlightenment, moral education, education of young people, it is more important than ever to focus on the pursuit of maturity” [2; p. 27].

Our country's rich history, which made a great contribution to the treasure of world civilization, high spirituality, moral values of our people, hard work, generosity, and tolerance of people living in our country serve as the basis for sustainable development in our country.
